

thisislondon.co.uk

We are lucky enough to have Kazan as our local and have been going there regularly since it opened about three/four years ago (one week I went three times with different friends!). The food has always been consistently excellent, as well as the service. It has a great atmosphere and the friendliness and professional attitude of the staff sets this restaurant apart from most. The mixed plates are the best, as you can try lots of different things and add other starters to it. We recommend the Ladies' Thighs too, a lovely lamb dish. We couldn't recommend a restaurant more highly actually.